All credible allegations of voting irregularities should be investigated in order to preserve our election process. All Americans should want to protect the integrity of our elections by making sure that all legally cast ballots are counted before a winner is declared.

I have cosponsored the Integrity of our Elections Act. The foundation of any democracy is the trust that the people place in the process of the election. Since our country's founding, most voting has taken place at the polls. (1/3)

I joined many of my colleagues in Congress in support of the Texas lawsuit against Georgia, Michigan, Pennsylvania, & Wisconsin. There is no situation, including a pandemic, that offers elected officials a legitimate reason to disregard the Constitution of the United States.

If the court finds that these elected officials overstepped their Constitutional duties and, therefore, tainted their states' elections, we must focus on restoring the integrity of the electoral process that was found to be undermined.

Confidence in our election process is critical. We must do everything in our power to ensure all ballots are legal.

Wicker, Hyde-Smith, Palazzo, Kelly, Guest Call for Transparency and Accountability in 2020 Election Count

WASHINGTON – U.S. Senators Roger Wicker, R-Miss., Cindy Hyde-Smith, R-Miss., and U.S. Representatives Steven Palazzo, R-Miss, Trent Kelly, R-Miss., and Michael Guest, R-Miss., today released the following statement on the 2020 election:

“Americans should have confidence in our voting system and that all ballots have been submitted correctly and legally. This is precisely what President Trump and his legal team are seeking.

“Any allegations of voting irregularities, including ballot tampering or voting by ineligible persons, should be investigated and adjudicated to the fullest extent of the law.

“It is essential to our democracy and the integrity of our elections that this process be allowed to play out in full view of the American people, and that election observers from both sides of the aisle be allowed to participate.

“Neither the media nor states should rush to declare a winner in closely contested states until all legally-cast ballots have been counted and all legal challenges and required recounts have been resolved.”

The President's team is working on ensuring every vote cast was done so legally and that signatures on ballots are authenticated. I am proud to support these efforts.

In a few days, Congress will vote to accept or reject certifying the Electoral College vote. I will not be voting to certify the results of the 2020 election.

Read my full statement here: bit.ly/3hLW2bW

I cannot vote to certify the results of an election in certain states that millions of Americans and I do not wholeheartedly trust. States cannot bypass their legislature to alter election processes, nor can they violate the laws already in place to safeguard the election. I stand with millions of Americans who do not approve or accept the submission made by the electoral college until a complete and thorough investigation of all evidence has been conducted.

I cannot idly stand by and watch Mississippi be disenfranchised while other states knowingly violated their Constitution and side-stepped their legislatures in the 2020 election.

I am committed to ensuring that all Americans are confident and trust the outcome of our election; it's the bedrock of our democracy.

My job in Congress is to represent the people of south Mississippi, and I know the majority of South Mississippi does not support impeaching President Trump. I join everyone in condemning the violence that occurred in Washington last week, just as we condemned the violence that took place in cities across the country this summer – none of this is acceptable.

But if we are sincere in our efforts to heal this nation, impeaching a President based on political motives is not going to help accomplish this goal. I do not support impeachment, and like every other Member of Congress should, I will ensure a peaceful transition of power on January 20.
