It is in America’s enduring national interest that we do not ignore what we know to be wrong with the 2020 elections.

Replying to @DarrellIssa

The U.S. Constitution clearly states that it is the responsibility of the state legislatures — not courts — to direct the manner in which members of the Electoral College are selected.

Last Wednesday, I recorded my objection to two states where this provision of the Constitution was violated by courts that changed election procedure without legislative approval.

In Pennsylvania, the State Supreme Court extended the ballot deadline in violation of state statute. In Arizona, the Federal District Court changed election registration deadlines in violation of state statute, letting tens of thousands of voters to inappropriately cast votes.

I recognize the COVID pandemic necessitated some election changes. These election laws, however, should have been changed by state legislatures consistent with the Constitution.

The circumstances surrounding this Presidential election point to a fraudulent outcome. The reports we’ve seen of non-residents, deceased voters, potential mail fraud, and partisan poll watching are deeply concerning and must be challenged. Every legal vote must be counted to preserve the integrity of our Republic and faith in our electoral system.

I joined several of my House Republican colleagues in sending a letter to Attorney General Barr expressing concern about the widespread reports of irregularities in the vote counting process in several states. The Justice Department should be using all of the resources at their disposal to ensure that only legal votes are being counted in a fully transparent manner. The American people deserve to have full confidence in the result of this Presidential election.
Many of you have asked what you can do now to help the President and help protect the Senate. President Trump's team has all the people they need on the ground in key states. They have lawyers and trained people who know how to battle. We have many experienced folks ready to deploy anywhere in the country if they need additional resources.

There are opportunities to help secure the Senate and ensure a Republican majority. There are two run off races in Georgia on January 5th. I'm organizing volunteers to make calls and help from NorCal. You can sign up on my website http://douglamalfa.com/volunteer/ or by emailing Doug@DougLaMalfa.com.

If you would like to donate to the National Republican Senatorial Committee to help fund what will likely be a very expensive race you can help at https://secure.winred.com/nrsc/home-page/...

This morning, I spoke on the House Floor about the President’s pursuit of legitimate legal challenges in key states. We must ensure a transparent elections process and that all legal votes are counted. Watch for more 📹
I recently introduced H.R. 8815, the Election Certainty Act, a bill that prioritizes election security by requiring all mail-in ballots to be signed and arrive at the election office by Election Day to ensure a consistent deadline across the country. The Election Certainty Act also requires all ballots turned in on behalf of a voter to be done so by a direct family member with a signature, ending “ballot harvesting.” All service members and their families deployed overseas are excluded from these requirements.

America has gone from election day to election months, due to early voting, extensive mail balloting, and late ballots being accepted. Many of these ballots are turned in by paid operatives through ‘ballot harvesting’ or mailed and arrive after the election, giving rise to claims of fraud. This extends the counting of ballots for weeks, rather than Americans having the results on election night. I am focused on creating simple common sense reforms that ensure the election is transparent and protect all citizens right to vote. If Americans don’t trust the way ballots are counted, they will never trust the outcome of the election and we cannot move forward. Why can’t we have election results on election night or within a few days in the closest of races? Why is California accepting mailed ballots all the way to November 20th, but in Georgia that ended on Election Day? This election was a complete fiasco with rules being changed repeatedly by out-of-control Governors, a prime example being Gavin Newsom. A clear federal standard fixes those problems and restores Americans’ trust in a most sacred institution -- our right to vote.

My full statement: https://lamalfa.house.gov/.../lamalfa-introduces-election...
The Election Certainty Act creates simple, common sense reforms that ensure elections are transparent and protect all citizens' right to vote.

Thanks for your support, @RepTedBudd!

- Require signature verification on all ballots.
- Require ballots be delivered by Election Day.
- End ballot harvesting.

We need @RepLaMalfa's Election Certainty Act. #CountAllLegalVotes

Millions of Americans and tens of thousands of my constituents have serious questions and concerns about the November election. There has been an endless dripping of reports of mishandled ballots, numbers not adding up and outright violations of the U.S. Constitution’s clear direction for setting election rules. These questions must be answered and no amount of media spin or declarations of “nothing to see here, move along” will change the concerns that many of us share.

The court system should have reviewed these problems. Before the election, the court punt said no one was “injured” yet. After the election, it became a political issue and courts sidestepped the question using ‘standing’, ‘procedure’, and some sloppy lawyer work by the Trump legal team. Because the courts at all levels have sidestepped their duty to the Republic, there is no other alternative than to use the power of Congress to investigate and hopefully get to the truth. I wish the courts had followed their constitutional obligation to be the neutral fact finder, but they failed.

History from the election of 1817, 1809, 1813, 1865, 1873, 1877, Nixon in 1969 to Democrats challenges in 2001, 2005 and 2017 have set a historical precedent that Congress may challenge the state electors and may hold up the count until questions are satisfied. I will be joining with Senator Ted Cruz and many other members of Congress to challenge the electoral college certification until a Congressional investigation is complete.

I did not come to this decision lightly, and weighed carefully the constitutional issues, potential damage to the electoral college system, and further division of our country. Most important, the American people deserve the truth, no matter how inconvenient or ugly. The danger to our Republic I see most pressing is a divide among Americans where we no longer trust each other, our institutions, or that we are given the truth in the media. Right or wrong, millions of Americans need to be assured that the outcome of this election wasn’t taken through fraud or incompetence.

Today is Law Enforcement Appreciation day. It has been a difficult, and often thankless, year for our police, sheriffs and all law enforcement officers. Let’s all make a point to thank them and their families as they step out their door each day to face the unknown risks of their duties of keeping the thin blue line between the public and harm.

President Trump is leaving office in eight days. Further dividing our nation by a punitive impeachment vote now won’t unify the country. This effort will not achieve anything constructive, is unlikely to lead to a conviction in the Senate, and wastes everyone’s time. It just continues to jab at millions of Americans who see themselves being insulted and isolated by Democrats and their allies in big tech who took away many American’s ability to connect with each other using social networking. Most glaring, there simply hasn’t been an impeachable offense that has been committed by the President. Democrat happy talk about unity and healing is not achieved with show votes that inflame division.

It was true when our cities were burning this summer, and it’s true now. … We will continue with the task that we have been sent here to do.
