I agree with @VP - we must work together to heal this nation. Invoking the 25th Amendment or Impeachment will only divide us further. We must move forward together & work to overcome this pandemic, reopen our economy & get Americans back to work.

THE VICE PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON

January 12, 2021

The Honorable Nancy Pelosi
Speaker of the House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Madam Speaker:

Every American was shocked and saddened by the attack on our Nation's Capitol last week, and I am grateful for the leadership that you and other congressional leaders provided in reconvening Congress to complete the people's business on the very same day. It was a moment that demonstrated to the American people the unity that is still possible in Congress when it is needed most.

But now, with just eight days left in the President's term, you and the Democratic Caucus are demanding that the Cabinet and I invoke the 25th Amendment. I do not believe that such a course of action is in the best interest of our Nation or consistent with our Constitution. Last week, I did not yield to pressure to exert power beyond my constitutional authority to determine the outcome of the election, and I will not now yield to efforts in the House of Representatives to play political games at a time so serious in the life of our Nation.

As you know full well, the 25th Amendment was designed to address Presidential incapacity or disability. Just a few months ago, when you introduced legislation to create a 25th Amendment Commission, you said, "[a] President's fitness for office must be determined by science and facts." You said then that we must be "[v]ery respectful of not making a judgment on the basis of a comment or behavior that we don't like, but based on a medical decision." Madam Speaker, you were right. Under our Constitution, the 25th Amendment is not a means of punishment or usurpation. Invoking the 25th Amendment in such a manner would set a terrible precedent.

After the horrific events of this last week, our Administration's energy is directed to ensuring an orderly transition. The Bible says that "for everything there is a season, and a time for every purpose under heaven... a time to heal, ... and a time to build up." That time is now. In the midst of a global pandemic, economic hardship for millions of Americans, and the tragic events of January 6th, now is the time for us to come together. Now is the time to heal.

I urge you and every member of Congress to avoid actions that would further divide and inflame the passions of the moment. Work with us to lower the temperature and unite our country as we prepare to inaugurate President-elect Joe Biden as the next President of the United States. I pledge to you that I will continue to do my part to work in good faith with the incoming administration to ensure an orderly transition of power. So help me God.

Sincerely,

Michael R. Pence
Vice President of the United States

The fact of the matter is the divisiveness in American politics today is a major problem. It was exhibited when champions of the defund the police movement hijacked what would have been peaceful protests, when Democrats backed arsonists and looters across America over the summer and when so called “patriots” stormed the capitol in one of the most disgusting displays in recent American history. Americans need to slow down, take a deep breath and remember the first two words of Laline’s January 8 editorial: “Dear Neighbor.”

Twenty-five days before the certification votes, I joined several of my colleagues in penning a letter to Speaker Pelosi requesting there be a bipartisan investigation looking into irregularities and alleged fraud conducted during the 2020 Presidential Election. The Staten Island Advance wrote about this on December 17th, 2020. Our letter and our request for an investigation, to this day, have been ignored.

"I support the effort by the Trump campaign to make sure every legal ballot and only legal ballots are counted," Stefanik said during an interview on NewsMax, a cable news network that has run pieces supporting some of Trump's claims about the election.

Her comments came the same day that Trump's attorney general, William Barr, told the Associated Press there was no evidence of fraud sufficient to overturn the election results.

"To date, we have not seen fraud on a scale that could have effected a different outcome in the election," Barr told the AP.

Stefanik, a favorite of Trump's for defending him during the 2019 impeachment investigation and who co-chaired his 2020 New York campaign, didn't directly back Trump's tweeted claims — repeated as recently as Tuesday — that the election was "rigged" or "stolen," but said the campaign's legal cases should be allowed to continue, implying some votes were cast illegally.

"We need to make sure every legal vote is counted, but we also need to highlight any of the irregularities," Stefanik told interviewer Shaun Kraisman. "I also have concerns about universal mail-in voting, and making sure we have signature checks when it comes to absentees."

On “Fox & Friends,” Stefanik expressed support for the president’s ongoing legal battles over the election, but stressed that the Senate race is a different issue altogether, with much at stake for her party.

“The president certainly has the right to pursue legal recourse, and there are questions as to how the election was conducted in states like Georgia, Pennsylvania, North Carolina and Michigan,” she said. “However, this Senate race — it’s all on the line. If you want to stand against a socialist takeover of the United States Senate, it’s imperative that Georgians turn out to vote.”

Citing baseless claims of widespread fraud in the recent presidential election, New York Rep. Elise Stefanik has announced plans to challenge its outcome.

The North Country representative said Monday she will object to Congress's certification of President-elect Joe Biden's Electoral College victory later this week. She will join several dozen Republican representatives and at least 11 GOP senators in doing so.

In a video posted to Twitter, Stefanik falsely claimed the election "featured unprecedented voting irregularities, unconstitutional overreach by unelected state officials and judges ignoring state election laws, and a fundamental lack of ballot integrity and ballot security."

The North Country lawmaker did not provide any evidence for those claims. In the hours that followed, Twitter officials flagged her post for containing false information on election fraud.

There is no evidence of widespread fraud in the presidential election, a fact confirmed by local election officials across the country and President Trump's former attorney general, William Barr. More than 50 lawsuits have been filed by Trump and his allies seeking to challenge the validity of the election and nearly all — including two in the U.S. Supreme Court — have been dismissed or dropped entirely.

Several Republican members of Congress reversed their decisions to contest Electoral College votes cast in the presidential election following the riot at the Capitol Wednesday. Rep. Stefanik was not one of them.

She maintained her objections to votes from Georgia, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and Michigan because she said tens of millions of Americans have expressed concerns about the integrity of the election.

She said she's also concerned about appointed officials in those four states unilaterally changing when absentee ballots could be cast and counted without any input by the legislatures in those states.

Stefanik said state representatives should determine election laws and changes made by anyone else are unconstitutional.

NewsChannel 13 asked if Stefanik thought President Trump's rhetoric following the election led to the violent mob descending on the Capitol.

She said she vehemently disagrees with lawmakers who have said Trump incited riots. She also denounced calls for Vice-President Mike Pence to invoke the 25th Amendment or for Congress to impeach Trump again.

Elections are not error proof or tamper proof. Many people believe that ballot integrity doesn't matter if your candidate wins. It doesn't work like that. Ballot integrity ALWAYS matters regardless of the circumstances and regardless of whether the issue impacts one vote or thousands of votes.

How to strengthen ballot integrity throughout the US:

- ✓ Voter ID
- ✓ Signature Verification with Campaigns Having the Right to Actively Participate In the Review
- ✓ Campaigns Having the Ability to Closely Observe the Opening of Ballots
- ✓ Ensuring ELIGIBLE Individuals Only Vote ONCE
- ✓ Dead People Should Never Vote at All

How to weaken ballot integrity through the US:

- ✗ Ballot Harvesting
- ✗ Universal Mail-In Voting
- ✗ Ineligible Voters Registering and Voting
- ✗ People Voting Where They Barely Reside (If At All)
- ✗ Allowing Ballot Defects to Be Cured In Some Areas of a State But Not Others

President Trump didn't actually collude with the Russians to win the 2016 election, but facts apparently didn't matter.

Ironically enough, the Chinese Communist Party infiltration into the Democratic Party was and is quite real, but facts apparently still don't matter.

It is crazy what's going on up in NY-22. Really shows you that our election system in our state and country hasn't been perfected. This race is an important reminder that not only does every legal vote matter, but also that ballot integrity matters, whether it affects one vote or thousands of votes.

Elections are not error proof or tamper proof, and this has been on full display here, as we've seen:

- 55 uncounted ballots emerged last week in one county
- 12 uncounted ballots emerged this week in another county
- Sticky notes used to track ballot challenges disappeared
- the votes of DEAD people were counted

...and more.

I will be speaking shortly on the House floor to voice objections you and I have regarding confirmed, evidence filled issues with the administration of the 2020 Presidential election in certain battleground states. Rogue election officials, Secretaries of State, and courts unilaterally and unconstitutionally enacted major election law changes without seeking and obtaining state legislative approval. Signature verification, ballot observation, voter roll integrity, voter ID requirements, ballot collection protections, and more were weakened on top of the millions of mailboxes that were being flooded with unrequested mail in ballots.

This is the same date in the same location as part of the same Constitutional process where Democrats have objected every single time a Republican presidential candidate has won in the past generation, including January 6, 2001, January 6, 2005, and January 6, 2017.

It was important last night to deliver remarks objecting to the certification of electors from Arizona and I was honored to do so. It is the Constitutional duty of state legislatures to set election law, and to do so constitutionally. Rogue election officials, Secretaries of State, and courts can not set election law unilaterally.

Election integrity is an issue larger than any one person, campaign or year. In our republic, this absolutely must be a top priority always.

As someone who was in the House chamber at the time violence, destruction and loss of life took over the Capitol yesterday, I must say that it served no helpful cause at all. I'm very grateful for our amazing police officers for their selflessness and heroism, but I must also add that there are far too many questions still left as to what exactly went down.

The path forward for our country is filled with great uncertainty and daunting challenges, but we were all given the amazing gift of being able to live in the greatest nation in the history of the world and cannot view this opportunity and responsibility lightly. Despite the divisiveness and concern that exists within our borders, I go to sleep tonight prayerful thinking about our republic, our future, and all of you.

Democrats and many in the media are trying way too hard to dishonestly connect Wednesday's shameful acts of violence, destruction and vandalism in the Capitol to the desires, will and intentions of tens of millions of other Americans. Just stop.

The double standard is painfully obvious when people who empowered violence on US streets in 2020 in Seattle, Portland, Chicago, Kenosha, DC, NYC and elsewhere are suddenly riding atop the highest horse in the land, many even comparing Wednesday's violence to 9/11 and the Holocaust.

The double standard is painfully obvious when a Democratic Party that submitted January 6th objections in Congress following every Republican presidential win over the past generation is trying to define a Republican objection on January 6th, 2021, as treason and sedition.

We all have strong emotions right now, and we always have strong beliefs. The violence in the Capitol was absolutely horrific for all of us, but there are too many people in government and in the media seriously in need of a deep breath and some alone time reflecting in front of a mirror.

There must be criminal charges for everyone who physically harmed others, destroyed property and vandalized Capitol offices, but those who can't help themselves and are thirsty to rack up political points and settle political scores right now as their highest priority above all else are overshooting their target and dividing our country further. Just stop.

On the same date in the same place as part of the same Constitutional process, Democrats voiced January 6th objections after EVERY Republican presidential win over the past generation. Despite Democrats objecting EVERY SINGLE TIME, the incredibly wild double standard is that if a Republican though submits any objection on January 6, 2021, then they are a seditionist traitor. Many Congressional Democrats, members of the media, and their supporters are trying way too hard here to climb aboard the highest horse in the land. They of course don't think any of those Democrats who objected on January 6, 2001, 2005 or 2017 should resign. It's because they are just partisans thirsting for political points and power. Their idea of demanding absolute power as the all important and continuous precondition to healing and unifying urgently requires them to throw some self-reflection and self-awareness into the mix.

I voted NO today on impeaching President Trump yet again with just one week to go until Inauguration Day. I often stated prior to November's election that there was only one thing at all that House Democrats wanted to accomplish if they kept the majority. They wanted to make Donald Trump the first President to be impeached twice. It didn't matter the charge, it didn't matter the double standard and it didn't matter whether it would rip our country in half further.

What's next? Pelosi and her squad are on offense to implement a far-left agenda from here with their one party rule and with big tech, the media and their base all cheering them on. We are outnumbered but we must not rest for one minute of any day to stand our ground speaking up on behalf of the nation we love and refuse to allow to get destroyed.
